cultures. I think it is important to learn about foreign people and their cultures and notice the differences. We have to be broad-minded. We can learn a lot about them from TV, movies, books and so on.
Second, (②). We are often asked about our own customs and history when we go abroad, but we do not always give the right answers. I don't think we know enough about our own culture.
Probably we should be more interested in our own culture.
Finally, I think (3). It is very difficult to communicate without language. Language is important to understand what other people say. If we can understand the same language, we can communicate more easily. Learning English at school will help to increase our understanding.
If we keep these things in mind and try to do our best, the world will
